RUSORO LAUNCHES TAKE-OVER BID FOR GOLD RESERVE

December 15, 2008

Trading Symbol (TSX-V):RML

Vancouver, Canada – Rusoro Mining Ltd. (TSX-V:RML) (“Rusoro” or the “Company”) today announced a take-over bid (the “Take-Over Bid”) for Gold Reserve Inc. (“Gold Reserve”, TSX:GRZ – AMEX:GRZ). Rusoro is offering Gold Reserve shareholders and equity unit holders (collectively, the “Gold Reserve Equityholders”) 3 Rusoro common shares for each Gold Reserve Class A common share and each Gold Reserve equity unit (collectively, the “Gold Reserve Equity”). The offer values Gold Reserve at C$1.08 per each Class A common share and each equity unit, and represents a premium of 140% based on the December 12, 2008 closing prices for Rusoro and Gold Reserve on the TSX Venture Exchange (“TSXV”) and the Toronto Stock Exchange (“TSX”), respectively, and a premium of 209% based on the volume-weighted average trading prices for Rusoro and Gold Reserve for the previous 30 trading days on the TSXV and the TSX, respectively.

Andre Agapov, Chief Executive Officer of Rusoro said, “A business combination between Rusoro and Gold Reserve creates the premier Venezuelan gold company and allows us to use our extensive in-country experience to unlock the inherent value of the Brisas Project for the benefit of all shareholders. Not only would Gold Reserve Equityholders benefit from the existing production at our Choco 10 and Isidora mines operating in Venezuela, they will also continue to participate in the development of the Brisas Project through significant ownership in the combined company. Gold Reserve’s Choco 5 project is contiguous to our Choco 10 operations and Gold Reserve’s Brisas Project is approximately 10 kilometres from our Yuruan property - the logical combination of our companies is expected to create real and valuable synergies. We are delighted to present this premium offer directly to Gold Reserve Equityholders and we see significant opportunities to both expand production at our existing operations and unlock the permitting deadlock that has plagued the timely development of the Brisas Project. The KM88 region in Venezuela is one of the world’s great gold mining regions and the time has come for its future to be guided by a team that has proven its ability to get its assets permitted and operating in Venezuela.”

Mr. Agapov added, “This is a logical combination. I encourage Gold Reserve Equityholders to contact their Board of Directors to support this opportunity. Further, I invite the Gold Reserve Board of Directors to contact us to open a constructive dialogue.”

The proposed combination of Rusoro and Gold Reserve would offer Gold Reserve Equityholders a number of benefits:

- Compelling Premium. On December 12, 2008, which was the last trading day prior to today’s announcement of the Take-Over Bid, the closing price of the Gold Reserve Shares listed on the TSX was C$0.45 and on the NYSE Alternext (AMEX) was US$0.39. Rusoro is offering C$1.08 per each Gold Reserve share and each Gold Reserve equity unit, based on Rusoro’s closing share price on the TSXV that same day. This offer represents a premium of approximately 140%, using the December 12, 2008 closing prices of Rusoro and Gold Reserve on the TSXV and TSX, respectively. Based on the volume-weighted average price of the Rusoro Shares on the TSXV for the 30 trading days ended December 12, 2008, the Offer represents a premium of approximately 209% over the volume-weighted average price of the Gold Reserve Shares on the TSX for the same period.

- Immediate Production. Rusoro is expected to produce in excess of 100,000 attributable gold ounces in 2008 from its existing proven and probable reserves. Management is currently developing expansion plans at Choco 10 and Incredible 6 that are expected, together with Rusoro’s San Rafael/El Placer and Isidora operations, to significantly increase attributable gold production. See further information on Rusoro’s technical information at the end of this press release.
- World Class Reserve and Resource Base. The combined company would have 12.2 million ounces of proven and probable gold reserves. Measured and indicated resources, inclusive of reserves, would total 18.9 million ounces of gold. The combined company would also have additional resources of 9.3 million inferred gold ounces. In addition, the Brisas Project contributes 1.4 billion pounds of copper in proven and probable reserves. See further information on the companies’ technical information at the end of this press release.
- Ongoing Participation in Brisas. Based on the 3:1 exchange ratio, Gold Reserve Equityholders would collectively own approximately 30.4% of the combined company on an issued share basis.
- Opportunity to Consolidate the KM88 Region. Rusoro has proven itself as a Venezuelan gold consolidator through the successful acquisition of both Gold Fields’ Choco 10 mine and Hecla Mining’s Isidora mine. Rusoro will explore the opportunity to further consolidate the world-class KM88 Region in Bolivar State, Venezuela.

- Established Relationship with the Venezuelan Government. Rusoro has established the first mixed enterprise joint venture of its kind with the Venezuelan government in the mining industry by agreeing to form a joint venture over the Isidora gold mining assets that Rusoro recently acquired from Hecla.
- Concrete Synergies. The logical combination of Rusoro and Gold Reserve will not only produce corporate synergies through the rationalization of head offices, regulatory filing requirements and executive teams, the strictly Venezuelan location of all material operations will enable the combined company to optimize in-country operations as well. Gold Reserve's Choco 5 property is adjacent to Rusoro's Choco 10 mine and Gold Reserve's Brisas property is 10 kilometres south of Rusoro's Yuruan property, all in Bolivar State, Venezuela. Rusoro expects to reduce duplicated in-country costs while optimizing operations including drilling, the use of construction and mining equipment, ore processing opportunities as well as regulatory and logistical requirements surrounding imports and permitting.
- Full Exposure to Gold Price. Based on Gold Reserve's publicly available information, none of the gold production of the combined company is hedged.
- Tax Efficient Structure. The Take-Over Bid has been structured as an all-share offer that will allow certain Gold Reserve shareholders who tender to the offer to do so on a tax efficient basis. Canadian resident Gold Reserve shareholders may receive Rusoro shares on a tax-deferred basis. Subject to the Passive Foreign Investment Company rules, U.S. resident Gold Reserve shareholders may also receive tax-deferral treatment if the Take-Over Bid is a qualified reorganization under U.S. federal tax law.
- Optimization and Consolidation Opportunities. If the offer is accepted and Rusoro acquires all of the outstanding Gold Reserve Equity, Rusoro intends to: (a) expedite its development and expansion plans at its Choco 10 mine and Incredible 6 project; (b) identify opportunities to optimize the development of Gold Reserve's Choco 5 project which is adjacent to Rusoro's Choco 10 mine; and (c) obtain the requisite development permits in respect of the Brisas Project in order to recommence construction in a timely manner.

- Ability to deliver results in Venezuela. Since commencing Venezuelan operations, Rusoro has been able to:
 - Develop an extensive land package with 2.0 million proven and probable gold ounces in reserves, and a resource (inclusive of reserves) of 7.1 million measured and indicated gold ounces. Rusoro also has an additional 7.0 million ounces of gold in inferred resources;
 - Permit and develop its San Rafael/El Placer project which is expected to reach commercial production in 2010;
 - Restart the Choco 10 mine acquired from Gold Fields after it had been effectively shut down as a result of both permitting and labour issues; and
 - Restart the Isidora mine acquired from Hecla after it had been effectively shut down as a result of both permitting and labour issues.

THE TAKE-OVER BID WILL BE OPEN FOR ACCEPTANCE UNTIL 12:00 MIDNIGHT EASTERN TIME AT THE END OF JANUARY 21, 2009, UNLESS THE BID IS EXTENDED OR WITHDRAWN BY RUSORO.

The Take-Over Bid will be subject to customary conditions, including: that a minimum of 66 2/3% of the outstanding Gold Reserve shares and 66 2/3% of the outstanding equity units on a fully-diluted basis, respectively, are tendered to the offer; the execution of a supplemental indenture in respect of Gold Reserve's 5.50% Senior Subordinated Convertible Notes due June 15, 2022; and the waiver or setting aside of Gold Reserve's shareholder rights plan.
